Hope duo better than rough chances

By Jonny Turner

One of the biggest trotting stables in the country will slip quietly on to squaregaiting's centre stage when Midnight Dash and Matua Tana start in the Dominion.

Bookmakers say the pair have little chance of winning the 3200m feature, but they make careers out of getting things wrong.

And at the same time, trainers Greg and Nina Hope have made their way by producing a long line of high-quality trotters.

Three days after enjoying one of the biggest thrills of his career when third in the Muscle Mountain in the New Zealand Trotting Free-For-All, the Hopes' son Ben will chase New Zealand's ultimate trotting title behind Midnight Dash.

And he thinks he has got a much better show than the horse's 40-to-one odds suggest.

"I think he has got a pretty good chance," Hope said.

"I look at the field and think if Sundees Son brings his best form he will just about be unbeatable."

"But I think my fellow will still go a pretty good race."

Midnight Dash comes into the Dominion after running third behind rivals Majestic Lavros and Heavyweight Hero in the South Bay Trotters' Cup.

That effort continued the four-year-old's brilliantly consistent form, following on from his clashes with Bolt For Brilliance and Cracker Hill in Auckland.

While Midnight Dash was burnt for speed in those runs, the Dominion will clearly be much different kind of race.

Tucked away on the markers, the four-year-old could emerge as a genuine place hope when the acid goes on.

"Dad worked him on Wednesday and said that he worked awesome, so we are really happy with the horse."

"We are not expecting he will just go out and win or anything."

"But he is a chance with the right run."

"In his races, he has always felt like the distance won't worry him and it actually took me quite a while to pull him up at Kaikoura."

Punters largely know where they stand with the more fancied of the Hope duo in Matua Tana.

If the wayward trotter brings his best manners he is a genuine winning chance.

But much of why the horse is paying 20-to-one comes down to the fact he could easily roll into a gallop as he did in the South Bay Trotters' Cup.

That leaves the Hope stable certain of one thing going into the Dominion they have the horse physically primed.

It is just up to Matua Tana to keep his mind on the task at hand.

"It is a bit hard to trust him, but his work has been good and if he brings his manners there is no reason he won't go a pretty good race," Hope said.

Gerard O'Reilly has the task of keeping Matua Tana's mind on trotting the entire 3200m of the Dominion.

Stakes target for Cheezel

By Joshua Smith, Harness News Desk

It was a red letter day for Regan Todd at Addington Raceway on Tuesday, with the Canterbury trainer recording his first Cup Day victory courtesy of Cheezel in the Avon City Ford Mobile Pace (1980m).

The daughter of Betterthancheddar was luckless in her lead-up runs and Todd was delighted she was able to change her form around on such a big occasion.

"It was our first win on Cup Day, so it was a big thrill," he said.

"In her last six starts she had been going pretty well. The only disappointing one was at Ashburton. She had to work too hard to cross the ones inside her and didn't finish off like she can."

Cheezel will step-up to stakes company at Addington on Friday where she will contest the Listed Nevele R Sire's Stakes Southern Mares Classic (1980m).

She has had just the one prior start at stakes level, placing in the Listed Sires' Stakes Northern Mares Classic (2200m) in March, but Todd believes Friday will be a sterner test for his charge.

"It's going to be a lot tougher and she has drawn seven," he said. "Need You Now is very smart. She is going to need a bit of luck and hopefully those better ones get bad luck."

Looking back on Cup Day, Todd was also impressed with That Alexander Guys third-placing in the Gr.3 Dunstan Horsefeeds Junior Free-For-All (2600m).

"He has been racing great and won two in a row (leading into Tuesday)," Todd said. "I probably chucked him in the deep end a little bit but he didn't disgrace himself, I was quite pleased with him."

"He got a good trip and probably could have finished a little bit closer if he got rolling a bit earlier, but it worked out well."

"I will set him for some country cups. He is getting up in grade now so it is getting quite tough. But as long as he keeps going the way he has, he is going to be very competitive."

While That Alexander Guy won't back-up on Cup Day, Todd has several runners who will, including 11-win trotter Splash Cola.

The 10-year-old mare lost all chance when breaking in the Group One Livamol NZ Trotting Free-For-All (1980m) on Tuesday.

"They were just going a bit quick for her really," Todd said. "She just lost her way a little bit."

She will start from behind the 10m tape in the Peninsula Beachfront Resort Mooloolaba Handicap Trot (2600m) on Friday and Todd is hoping she will appreciate the drop back in class.

"She drops back on Friday, so hopefully that will suit her a bit better," he said. "She is off 10m so hopefully she can get away and get into it nicely."

Stablemate Winterfell has headed to the spelling paddock after his unplaced run in the feature trot on Tuesday and Todd is hoping a break will help reinvigorate the talented square-gaiter.

"He is going out for a spell, he is out of the Dominion," Todd said.

"He had a hard run but he was just okay. He is probably a bit of a shadow of himself with how he was going at Inter Dominion time."

"I think mentally he just needs a break and hopefully he will settle down a bit and come back to his old self."

Meanwhile, Todd was pleased with Thefixer's run in the Group One IRT New Zealand Trotting Cup (3200m) after a far from ideal start, and he is looking forward to lining him up in the Group One Mediaworks 'Make Some Noise' NZ FFA (1980m) on Friday.

"It was a disaster at the start (of the New Zealand Cup), which was pretty disappointing," Todd said.

"That was probably the quickest that horse has begun and he couldn't get near them. I was quite happy with how he went though."

"He has come through the run really well. He was nice and bright this (Wednesday) morning so we will back up and it will be interesting to see how he gets out of the gate."

"It is not a bad draw (5), I would have been happier with one, but you have got a few options from that draw, you are not going to settle too far back."

Could history be repeating itself for Classie Brigade?

By Michael Guerin

John Dunn has a case of New Zealand Free-For-All déjà vu and he doesn't like it.

And that could be good news for the favourite Amazing Dream in the $180,000 Group 1 at Addington.

Dunn could be in for a big day at the office with Sundees Son in the Dominion and Need You Now in the mares classic but while Classie Brigade has been blessed with the ace draw in the Free-For-All Dunn is worried about Amazing Dream being on his back.

Classic Brigade was sixth in Tuesday's Cup, a race most realised he probably couldn't win the moment he drew the second line.

But the ace suits him perfectly on Friday as it was the draw he led from in last year's Free-For-All and rolled along before going down in the shadows of the post of Chase Auckland.

The latter had sat on his back the entire way from barrier two as there was no second line and if Classie Brigade leads from the ace as Dunn hopes it looks likely Amazing Dream will be sitting waiting for that same passing lane run.

"I have got the same problem as last year," says Dunn.

"I think I have to try and lead because if a horse like Spankem crosses me or I hand to him I think he could go as slow as he wants and win.

"But If I am rolling in front like last year then I have a mare who might be every bit as good as Chase Auckland sitting on my back ready to do the same thing.

"So the draw is good, but the horse who might be trailing me even if I can lead isn't so much."

With Self Assured pulling out of the Free-For-All after not eating up to trainer Mark Purdon's satisfaction after Tuesday's huge win, the All Stars find themselves looking to repeat a quite remarkable and unheralded streak.

They have won the Free-For-All seven times this century and of those only one, the mighty Lazarus, was a New Zealand Cup winner backing up from three days earlier.

It used to be the trend for decades the Cup winner would back up and at least be a force in the Free-For-All if not win it but some of those All Stars winners didn't even start in the Cup, horses like Auckland Reactor and Ultimate Machete.

So that is the path Amazing Dream is trying to follow and we will find out if she is indeed the best mare in the country (likely) or maybe even one of the best pacers. Although with no Self Assured, Copy That or Ultimate Sniper in the super sprint Amazing Dream is found the right Group 1 in which to make her open class debut.

Of course there is no guarantee Classic Brigade will lead and if Spankem gets him for raw speed at the start the whole complexion of the race will change. If last year's Miracle Mile winner leads the sprint becomes his race to lose.
